Judging Others in Areas of Freedom

Romans 14:1-5

Doesn't Paul himself pass judgment on the opinions of others by calling them weak in verse one? Why not? What does it mean to judge?

What results in a person being described as weak in this passage? What distinguishes the strong from the weak?

List at least a half of dozen issues that this passage would apply to.

What is the reason Paul gives for not judging others on these issues?

What areas are you tempted to pass judgment on the opinions of others?
